

Brian Fried, Serial Inventor and Inventor Coach, to Speak on How to Take Your Invention Idea to the Next Level

Join Fried at the Iowa Inventors Group on June 11

Brian Fried award-winning inventor, author, radio and TV personality, and speaker will speak at the upcoming Iowa Inventors Group meeting on June 11 via Skype. Inventing secrets will be revealed during this informative conversation on how to turn your invention idea into a reality. Brian will draw from his 15+ years of success as an inventor and invention coach and share his experiences bringing his inventions to retail through manufacturing and licensing to earn royalties.

Mr. Fried is a serial inventor, having licensed, manufactured, and sold a number of his invention ideas over the years. In addition to being an inventor himself, Brian has written two highly-regarded invention books, “You and Your Big Ideas” (2008) and “Inventing Secrets Revealed” (2016), produces and hosts Got Invention Radio, has made several TV appearances as an on-air host on QVC and other networks, and has been featured in several media outlets as an inventor expert.

Beyond his own personal success, Mr. Fried is passionate about and active in the inventor community, helping others achieve success with their own ideas. In 2017, Brian launched the inventor consultancy Inventor Smart, for new inventors seeking guidance on the complicated process of getting inventions to the marketplace. Brian has also founded and run several inventors clubs and is an active public speaker and presenter at events like trade shows, business organization events, and schools K-12 and college speaking on topics such as “How to Bring an Idea to Reality and “How to Build a Business with Your Invention”.

The Iowa Inventors group meeting will take place on June 11 at 7pm Central Time. Brian’s talk will last 30-45 minutes, with time for questions after.
